ROME (UPI) -- The Eternal City and a town built by Benito Mussolini in the reclaimed Pontine swamps are both vying for the honor of collecting taxes from Gina Lollobrigida.

If Gina has her way, she will pay her taxes to the town of Sabaudia, where municipal taxes are much lower.

The case started several years ago when the beautiful film star and her Yugoslav-born husband, Milko Skofic, were billed for their "family tax" — a municipal income tax — by both Rome and Sabaudia authorities.

Skofic appealed to the Finance Ministry, claiming that he and Gina must pay taxes only in Sabaudia, where they have a villa and which was then their legal residence.

The Finance Ministry insisted that they must pay in Rome, where they also have a villa, instead of in Sabaudia.

Skofic and Gina took the matter to the Council of State, Italy's highest administrative court, where the dispute will be settled.
Patented Prep Rally Falls Short
Tap-Ins Help Beat Locals

NEWPORT, R. I. — Volleyball may be a little known sport but the DeMatha High School cagers know how to play the game well. The Hyattsville, Md., cagers gave St. Peter's Prep a lesson in the art of tapping the ball over the knocked out the defending champion of the 26th annual Eastern States' Catholic Invitational Tournament with a near 50-51 win last night before 2,500 fans at the Rogers Gymnasium.

St. Peter's, however, conceded nothing to its taller foe and actually made up for its lack of height with tremendous hustle, aggressiveness and determination.

DeMatha MEETS Trenton Catholic tonight at 9 o'clock for the championship, while St. Peter's faces St. Agnes of Rockville Center, N.Y., for third place in the opener of a doubleheader at 7:30. Trenton Catholic had to overcome a 23-8 second quarter deficit before gaining the finals with a near 51-43 triumph over St. Agnes.

Coach Jerry Halligan's Prepster rallied to cut the deficit to four points within two minutes. After trading baskets three times, St. Peter's pulled to within 41-49 with a minute and a half remaining. But a brace of fouls by 6 foot John Austin and a dunk shot by McDermott offset Stu McGregor's final basket.

St. Peter's held a 23-21 edge on DeMatha from the floor and every one of the Prep baskets were of the hard earned, jump shot variety. But DeMatha, with its overwhelming supremacy under the boards, just kept tapping the ball into the net. In volleyball, that's a violation...but in basketball, it meant a basket and eventually the game.

In the opening afternoon loser's consolation games, Bergen Catholic, on two baskets by John Hammel in the final 12 seconds, upset All Hallows, 58-56, while St. John's of Washington, behind Bob Lewis' 8 ppoints, routed Fordham Prep, 78-60.

ST. PETER'S never buckled, and trailed by only two points at halftime. The DeMatha five moved ahead by eight after three quarters. The late Prep rally, similar all year, fell short time.

Courage Counts, Too

Teddy Kennedy's admission he arranged to have a friend substitute for him during a foreign language examination when he was a teen-aged freshman student has been blown up out of all proportion.

Kennedy and his friend were asked to withdraw, with the understanding they would be readmitted if they demonstrated by constructive, responsible citizenship that they had learned their lesson.

The youngest Kennedy brother did this to the satisfaction of Harvard authorities by his Army service in Europe, and subsequently was graduated. His friend was readmitted, too.

Cheating is a serious offense, not to be minimized. But one episode need not cloud a lifetime. Some learn the lesson early in life, as Ted Kennedy did; the evil, dangerous men never do. His youthful lapse should not be the only standard by which he is judged as a person or as a candidate for public office. His courage in making the facts public during a hot political campaign should count for something, too.
